IT WORKED TOO WELL—THE ATOMIC BOMB

Civilized man has become alarmed at his own discovery. Regardless of the fact the bomb was sent on its mission of destruction several weeks ago, we are still hearing reports of the havoc it cost in lives and property. Being an engine of destruction it was intended for war purposes and it accomplished all it was intended to do. From reviews we read man is now more concerned about his own safety, fearing some other nation, or the lawless element might get hold of this implement. Whether our scientists can now find a way to destroy such a bomb before it reaches our shores, has not been decided.

Man has something else to be concerned about. When we take over certain controls of the universe, we are dealing with an unseen power. Man might distort the elements by taking control of the "atom". We have reason to be alarmed about the atomic bomb. We cannot hold the secret for other men in other nations have mental powers to think out some such device that might become more destructive than what we have just experienced.

If the power of the atom is to destroy while in man's own hands how then can we make it serve a civilized nation or even the human race?

THE FARMER'S WEALTH AND SPECULATION

Much is being said in farm circles, over the air and in the press about the wealth now held by the American farmer. If we read the signs aright the farmer is going to need all the supposed surplus wealth now in his possession. If Europe is to be made an agricultural set of nations converted to farm crop production and at our expense in money and farm machinery, where then will our surplus crops be marketed? South America can outproduce its needs. China and Japan must give attention to feeding their own people. England will produce her greatest farm crops this year. Canada must have a market for her grains and livestock. Russia produces enough wheat in a year to feed the entire world.

The American farmer will not have things as he wishes in the coming years. He will face lower prices for all he produces and each crop will have a higher production cost than the one previous for labor will sit at the council table to have a word in shaping the farmer's future world. Too many farmers reckon the dollar for grain or livestock from the standpoint of sales. He seldom stops to figure just what and how much that dollar will purchase. Farm machinery will cost more and as prices are made now, the farmer cannot expect to get pay for his family help in crop production. His reward will be to witness the son leaving the farm for the factory work bench at wages greater than could be figured from the net sale of crops from the farm.

The highpoint of the war inflation is over. Farm prices have been held down to please labor while labor has drawn the highest pay in the history of man. Today one union is demanding a thirty-cent per hour increase over the war wages. How can the farmer purchase the products of increased labor when his prices are to be held down. The OPA tells the nation that the cost of living will be held down to the 1942 level. The picture is not the brightest for the farmer from the dollar and cent standpoint.

There is to be a vast amount of food of all kinds placed on the market by the army. This will help hold down the cost of living. The government is going to unload its surplus meat in a few weeks. This will stock up wholesalers and retail outlets and slow down the packer, who will not be a daily purchaser of livestock. This means prices will drop. Even if the government floor prices are maintained we will have another glutted market of livestock. The farmer may not be able to ship when he should to escape further waste of feed. We had that situation with hogs about a year ago. It can happen again. While the farmer may as a class have heaped a mountain of wealth, he is going to need this cushion for his farm machinery is badly worn or out of date and he must have new which will cost around the war time price. No concern can increase wages 30 cents per hour and then sell the product at the 1942 price. We do not fear inflation half as much as we do the burden of public and private debt. The labor out of a job will not be visited by the income tax collector. The farmer stands the best chance of having to pay income taxes for the waste we have had, means the wealth of the land and mines is the guarantee that the billions of government bonds outstanding will be paid.

Every war period in the history of man has been followed by panics, depressions, or what not. The wise farmer of today will take no chance at wild speculation. That belong to the millions who hope for quick riches without labor.

All new 1945 models. If we have size we can save you from $25 to $100 on your coat. B & B

Various agencies have taken a census among boys in the service as to what they wish to do when they are given their discharges. Strange to say only about ten percent desire to continue their education and only 3 to 5 percent of the boys from farms desire to return to the farm. A large majority express themselves as anxious to get a job at good pay—they want a chance at the ten and twelve dollar a day jobs. We get a tip the administration is much concerned as to the attitude of the former farm boys. Taking a factory job at $10 a day means pushing out some CIO or other union trade member. A lot of promises have been made service men on their return home by the administration—many more than can be made good.

How farm problems are to be met in the face of a labor shortage and no chance for $10 a day wages on any farm has farm leaders scratching their heads. If farm prices are to be held down to escape inflation there will be a greater shortage of food next year than this. High wages cannot increase sugar production for the reason Cuban sugarcane growers have not kept up their acreage due to the double crossing at the hands of the OPA not permitting a crop to enter this country at a slightly higher price than the previous year. Meantime the New Deal crackpots were preaching a Roosevelt-Wallace heresy in paying farmers in this country for not growing sugar cane or beets. You are to pay the price this year as well as next by doing without sugar. Even the fruit growers are alarmed and few of the peach growers will be able to make a reasonable profit due to the slow sale of the fruit. No sugar means no home made peach butter or preserves and peaches will rot in many sections at a time when it looks like there was a bushel for each and every citizen in the nation.

How this nation can feed the world and yet have half ration at home in the face of food shortages, will be the big administration problem. The CIO division controlling automobile labor demands an increase of 30c an hour which would make common labor at $1 or more per hour. Then figure a job with the OPA demanding the automobile manufacturers producing a car at the 1940 price. This means you will not get that new car for some time for we must go through a sweat and there is no escape. Then figure how income taxes can be lowered if we follow the Truman idea of paying all the unemployed $25 a week for 26 weeks. Who will want a job during the Santa Claus period. How will the farmer get labor to produce crops if men are to draw $25 weekly for doing nothing. Such a plan will empty manufacturing plants, even the farmer's son would join the city ranks and adopt the "do nothing policy" to draw $25 each week. You cannot expect the returning veterans to be at all pleased at such a system when about all the boys in Europe had out of their salary was $17 a month and the British, French and Italians robbed them at every turn even the price of a sandwich or "deducting" when the service man wanted to exchange his American money for French. The manner in which our boys were robbed was a national scandal and not a word of protest was made by the New Dealers to defend our boys. It is no wonder there is to be no haste in returning our boys—not until after the 1946 congressional elections.

The administration has a problem on its hands. The 95th Division, which carried the brunt of much of the war in Europe is back in this country. The division is quartered at Hattiesburg, Miss. Last Sunday the boys got busy and wrote letters to the home folks to get after congressmen and senators to demand of the War Department their discharge rather than send them on to Japan after a three year fight in Europe. The boys stormed the New Orleans newspaper offices and sought publicity for their cause. The brass hats in Washington have not tumbled as yet. "Grandpa" Stimson, never gets alarmed. He evidently cares less. That was the reason FDR appointed him to be nothing more than window dressing while inside New Dealers ran the war, let the contracts and took down the "commitments. One more reason why the administration says it will take two years to get the boys back from the European front. If so why then has the War Department turned back to the British owners the "Queen Mary" and other large craft that have been hauling a few of our boys back home?

President Truman evidently does not think his administration will be injured by dumping most all of the original "Roosevelt wise men" that have been in the cabinet and important bureaus. One by one the New brain-trusters have been turned out of government offices. The State Department pushed two crackpots out a few days ago. Both were Roosevett appointees. That is the reason why Pres. Truman continues to clean house. He has named numerous conservatives for important places, most of them Democrats—but Americans. He has not played to the lunatic fringe but he must also keep the American labor leaders, the Hillman brand, etc., at arm's length. Harry will wade into deep water if he means conservatives with the right hand and then turns left to please the pinks or Communists Reds.

Republicans should take the OPA as a sort of aid society for the next election. We are told of a prominent Dayton Democrat that has been on a rage over OPA policies and claims it will mean the party cannot expect to raise funds for political purposes and at the same time use back-door methods to trap business interests. A lot of business men have been favored by the OPA, others in the same line have been punished. The situation in Dayton is desperate and the Democrats want it changed and the pressure will evidently get to Washington. As we view the administration troubles one might as well try to escape death as to try to elude the OPA. One thing is certain in Greene county, the Dems might just as well try the line up the Japs as the restaurant interests in the county for support. A Dayton meat dealer refused to sell second grade sausage at any price. He had a big trade on his sausage because the public demanded first class meat. By so doing he was given a fine. Now this particular dealer does not handle any kind of fresh sausage. It is the trade that is out. The dealer would not put liver, corn meal or lights in his brand of sausage. Rather than deceive the public he just dropped sausage from the list of items the public wanted.

Hen Wallace, famous one time New Dealer, now the silent member of the Truman cabinet, with little to do and little or no speech making, in these days of red tokens for meat took no chance with an experimental ham sent to his office in the Department of Commerce and gave it the test treatment on his own private dining room table. The ham had been sent to the Secretary of Commerce as a sample of curing meat by a new method and the Texan that developed the method wanted the Secretary to give it the three-month test at the bureau of standards. The ham was left on Henry's desk and it never reached the testing stage at the bureau. Later Hen discovered he had eaten the test ham and to make the experiment he wrote the Texan that it would be necessary for him to send on another ham for the real test. The Texan evidently was satisfied if Henry ate the ham with no ill effects it was not necessary to send another, and the Texan failed to answer the letter or dispatch another ham.

While the public took advantage of the two-day holiday last week now we hear it never was the intention of the president or anyone else to make the event nation wide. The President no doubt like some of the rest of us did not make his statement clear enough about the holiday. It was intended only for war workers. The President himself was surprised when he learned postal deliveries had been discontinued over the nation. The Postal Department took the cue from the President's statement which however was confined to war workers. After all the President has no power to discontinue or declare a holiday for any bottom and he probably knows that from his experience in the Senate Congress only fixes postal holidays for postal workers all along the line. It is said the postal holiday of two days is the first since the founding of the department outside of what we all know Congress has set aside such as Christmas, Labor Day and etc.

Hybrid Corn Raises National Acre Yield

Ease of Harvesting Proves Advantageous

THE production of record corn crops during the war years has been strongly influenced by the use of hybrid seed corn in important growing areas.

Hybrid varieties, along with good growing weather, it is pointed out by the department of agriculture, have been major factors in raising the national acre yield of corn from an average of 25.8 bushels to 32.5

bushels. Nearly 52 per cent of the corn acreage was planted to hybrid varieties.

Very few barren plants are found in a field of hybrid corn, and a much smaller per cent of rubbish. Hybrid corn bears ears at a more uniform height than open-pollinated corn, and the plants stand up better under hushing operations.

Agronomists emphasize that hybrid seed corn will not produce yields in spite of poor soil and poor culture. Where fertility or moisture is available for an acre yield of no more than 20 bushels of corn this condition is a limiting factor for both types.

Some hybrids show decided resistance to disease, and several tend toward immunity to chinch bugs and corn root worms. Resistance to the European corn borer and to the corn ear worm has also been found.

Industrialized Wheat.

Wheat, the staff of life, has taken on a definite commercial or industrial color. Since the time of Ceres, goddess of grain, and allegedly the first to cut wheat, its main purpose has been to furnish man with food.

New uses are developing daily. Italy years ago developed cloth for women's clothes from straw. Eutidine, the principal ingredient in the synthetic rubber process, can be obtained from a wheat by-product.

Wheat is used in the manufacture of industrial alcohol, is utilized in the manufacture of starch and starch syrup.

For years wheat has been used for paper, paperboards and wood compositions.

Food for pound, wheat is equal to corn in hog, dairy cow, cattle, sheep and poultry feeding.

Extension Service Receives U. S. Funds

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Financing of the U. S. Extension service program for 1945 on practically the same basis as in 1944 was assured here when the 78th congress in one of its last acts appropriated $28,000,000 for this purpose.

The amount was contained in the Deficiency Appropriation bill which provides that not less than 7 million and not more than 11 million dollars of the new funds are to be specifically earmarked for the use of the Extension service.

The bureau of the budget had originally submitted a preliminary estimate calling for continuation of the unspent funds left over from the calendar year of 1944, amounting to about 8 million dollars, to be available only until the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1945. Proponents of the program, however, declared this proposal unsatisfactory, asserting it would not provide adequate assurance to farmers that facilities would be available to obtain necessary farm labor through the year.

RAIL CIRCUS IS COMING SOON

This vicinity will feel the lure of the Circus when Dailey Bros. Threading Railroad Circus exhibits in Xenia Friday, August 24.

Not a small truck show but one of America's largest circuses traveling aboard its own special train. Dailey Bros. will bring to this section the first railroad circus to visit in recent years. A matinee performance will be presented at 3 P. M., followed by a night performance at 8 P. M.

Many new and sensational acts will be presented during the two-hour performances. The circus presents an herd of 10 elephants, trained and directed by prett, Norma Davenport, at 14 the world's youngest elephant trainer. The huge beasts present an intricate routine climaxed by a realistic baseball game with the two-ton animals themselves as the players.

Lions, tigers, bears and leopards will perform in the same arena in a death-defying exhibition. Featured aerialist will be Miss Mildred Pyle on a trapeze high in the huge big top. Si Kitchie, famous Filipino head balancer, will balance on the slender bar of a trapeze in the top of the tent. Beautiful trained horses under direction of Miss Hazel King will appear in intricate routines.

A corps of clowns which includes many of America's leading funsters will provide plenty of clean comedy with their new and original rib-tickling antics. The Dailey Bros. concert band will present an outstanding musical program throughout the performance.

The circus carries a large free menagerie of elephants, lions, tigers, zebras and many other animals from the far corners of the earth and doors will open an hour before show time to allow ample time for inspection of the menagerie and horse fair.

Reader Has Different View on $50,000 Request

To the Editor.
Recently you published an article in reference to someone wanting the Congress to put up $50,000 a year to guard and maintain the Roosevelt estate at Hyde Park. The first report was the home was to be used by the family as long as the widow lived. It was also reported a modest fee was to be charged for admission, this to pay for upkeep.

A lot of things we never knew before have come to light since the family will be made public. Some New Dealer must have discovered the war no longer covers a lot of history and probably not so many consider an admission fee, modest as it might be, would pay the upkeep and for that reason Congress must put up $50,000 to help pay for three guards each twenty-four hours.

These returning soldiers will not over-run the Hyde Park estate, that is sure. With one son in the service and another to be 18 this fall, I think it is a burlesque to ask congress to do something the public would not pay for individually.

White Ash

The white ash is not only America's leading hardwood but its most important ash. It grows from Nova Scotia westward to Minnesota and southward almost to the Gulf of Mexico. It is a stately tree 75 to 125 feet high. The wood of the white ash is heavy, hard, strong and stiff, seasons well, takes a good polish and is free from taste or odor. Its principal uses are for handles, cooperage, furniture, motor vehicle parts, sporting and athletic goods, as well as railroad ties, veneer and fuel.

Select Dairy Cows

On Standard Basis
In selecting dairy cows certain definite points must be looked for. Among the most important are:
1. Ample digestive capacity, which means good length, width and depth of body.
2. A good constitution as shown by great chest capacity.
3. A large udder of soft quality.

A good type dairy cow.

4. The rump should be long, wide and level and the hip bones should be wide apart.
5. The hide should be thin, loose and pliable, and the bones of medium size, with the head showing general refinement.
6. Must have dairy temperament, or tendency and ability to produce milk.
7. Generally the larger the dairy cow the better. Size and quality, however, must be properly correlated.

Dirndl Skirt With Blouse Making Big Hit This Season

This is a season when young girls will be wearing most picturesque dresses that stress the blouse-and-skirt theme. It's the dirndl skirt worn with a quaint and charming off-shoulder blouse that is making the big hit. You may expect to see this fashion played up in most versatile and fascinating ways. In the colorings, the styling and the general appearance these exotic looking little two-pieces definitely reflect Mexican and South American influence. The dirndl skirt made of gay cottons is smartly styled with flounces in many instances or, if a simple straight silhouette, is apt to be made ornate with huge novelty pockets or wide contrast borderings about the hemline. The favorite blouse is the off-shoulder type with full short puffed sleeves. You can make them up simply of gay print or any material you choose. However, the big news is the fine lingerie blouse of an exquisite sheer that is enchantingly trimmed with lace edging or colorful hand embroidery. You will want at least one of these for gala occasions and parties.

Large Star Shape Is New Jewelry Trend

The newest thing in brooches, clips and pendants is the large important-looking star shape. These handsome jewelry pieces are fetchingly designed in glittering sunburst effects, some with colorful stone settings in a one-color scheme or they may reflect multi-colors or they may be worked in lacy filigree gold effects. They are so decorative that they may be worn as the single important jewel that glamorizes an entire costume.

Greene County orphans, may be the recipients from a trust fund that has nearly doubled in value from accrued interest in 22 years. The fund is now $3,857.36. Judge William B. McCallister has asked for court decision as to disposition of the fund.

The fund was created under the will of the late Mrs. Louise Springer Greet of Xenia, who was raised in the Greene County Home. The original fund was $1,866.03 and it has accumulated since the money was deposited March 30, 1923 in the People's Building and Savings Co., Xenia.

Judge McCallister has asked for legal advice and has filed action in the Common Pleas Court, he being trustee by virtue of being Probate Judge. The court will determine how the fund can be used, and if the wards in the County Home, qualify as orphans even though one or both parents might still be living.

Mrs. Greet died in 1920.

POST-WAR FLYING IN YOUR HOME TOWN

By E. C. CAMPBELL, Jr.
Member, Aviation Writers Association, Washington, D. C.

Freedom of Personal Flight
The development of aviation has been so rapid that many of the rules and regulations made only a few years ago to govern it, are already obsolete.

"Not only are many restrictive regulations considered needless in these days of advanced mechanical controls and vastly improved operating facilities," says Joseph T. Gething Jr., Aircraft Council manager, Personal Flight Council, "but it is contended that they endanger the whole future of flying in America by preventing many people from flying."

In order to call this situation to the attention of the country and to Congress and Washington aviation officials, the Council has drawn up a statement of policy on the "Freedom of Personal Flight."

Just as the airplane has made tremendous technical and operational strides during the war years, the Council points out, it is now necessary for the rules of flying to be simplified and advanced in proportion.

The airplane's most important role in the future may very likely be as a private conveyance of the ordinary citizen, similar in social and economic importance to the automobile, it is asserted. Yet the Civil Air Regulations up to now have taken little cognizance of the personal plane or its ownership and operation by folks like you and me. Instead, many of the rules governing fast commercial flights of passengers and cargo were applied to those flying small, private airplanes. Naturally, as they now stand, they just do not fit any more than rules and regulations written for bus and truck operation would fit personal automobile operation. Fortunately, regulations now are being revised to do away with a great deal of needless and time-wasting procedures and requirements.

Among the points which the Personal Aircraft Council makes are: 1. The air is free; 2. airspace should be available to all persons for all purposes of air travel; 3. ownership and operation of an airplane should not be restricted to any greater degree than is the comparative use of an automobile. The statement of policy also calls for termination of special clearance, flight plan, and other "paper work"; and that no airport built partly by public funds should be permitted to exclude any type of air traffic, unless special fields are provided for such excluded craft.

Other recommendations would make the right to pilot aircraft dependent solely on proof of ability to fly with reasonable skill, and would remove many of the difficult but unnecessary qualifications for pilot certification for personal flying. Changes in traffic rules are also advised.

It seems unlikely that any one will take issue with the purpose of the suggestions, which is to make personal flying simple and easy within reasonable bounds and thus advance the whole progress of America's aviation.

This is the second of a series of articles on post-war flying and its effect on community life. The next article "On the Air Map" will appear in an early issue.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Theological Education, Chicago.
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for August 26

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts as authorized by the International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JACOB ADJUSTS PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 31:1-11, 17-20. GOLDEN TEXT—Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace.—Romans 14:19.

Eventually a man's past catches up with him and he must face his own record. The Bible says, "Be sure your sin will find you out" (Num. 32:23), and it always does. Jacob, who had deceived his brother and had fled into a far country, ultimately had to return to his homeland and face Esau. The story of what happened makes up our dramatic and instructive lesson.

Before Jacob could be permitted to enter the Promised Land of his father, he had to meet God. He needed a thoroughgoing transformation of life and attitude, and he received it as he wrestled with God at Peniel (Gen. 32).

Ultimately the stubborn man had to yield, and then he found that it was God who had come to give him his great blessing. How often do we fight against the goodness and mercy of God. Yielding brings blessing; Jacob "the supplanter" became Israel "prince with God." He was now ready for

I. Reconciliation (vv. 1-7). After living for 20 years in horror of meeting Esau, Jacob now learned that his brother was coming against him with an army. He resorted to a clever strategy, but this time it was done not in sly crookedness, but in an open friendly effort to win his brother's good will.

There is nothing wrong about the use of a tactful approach, and it really worked for Jacob. His courtesy was shown by his seven bows.

His conciliatory attitude showed in his rich gift to his brother. Then came a surprise. Esau proved to be a loving brother rather than a hated enemy. Blood does count, and men do well to respond to the promptings of their hearts to be affectionate toward their brethren.

Note Jacob's pride in presenting his family. "God had blessed him and he rejoiced in his children. The scene is typically Oriental, but it shows an attitude toward one's family which we could well emulate.

Next, a very practical note entered into the reconciliation of the brethren, namely: II. Restitution (vv. 8-11). The gift which Jacob had prepared for Esau was in the Oriental tradition, and yet it bore also the nature of a restoration of something of that which Jacob had taken from Esau in defrauding him of his birthright.

There is a place for proper restitution in every case where we have wronged another by taking his possessions or destroying his opportunities to prosper. Becoming a Christian is a forgetting of those things which are behind (Phil. 3:13) in a spiritual sense, but not in the ignoring of our obligations to others. What we can make right we must make right if we want God's blessing.

Esau was generous and did not want the gift, but since it would have been an affront to his brother to refuse, he accepted it. There are proprieties in life and little courtesies to be observed. Failure at this point has created much friction even between believers. Being a Christian should make one gentlemanly and ladylike. Let's remember that!

Then, too, Jacob was wise in putting Esau under the friendly obligation which is inherent in the acceptance of a gift. Those who are stingy and close-fisted about giving to others often find that their lack of generosity has reflected in their lack of friends.

The time has come for the brothers to part, and we find Jacob falling into his old trickery as he prepares to

III. Return (vv. 17-20). The portion between verses 11 and 17 indicates that instead of going on in straightforward dealings with Esau, Jacob resorts to evasion in order to be free to go where he would in his return to his fatherland. Instead of going back to Bethel the place of blessing (Gen. 28), to which Jacob had been called (Gen. 31:11-13), he went to Succoth and ultimately to the outskirts of Shechem where his family fell into great sin. Ultimately, God did get him back to Bethel (Gen. 35), but only after much sorrow and suffering.

Jacob was called to live the life of a shepherd out in the fields with God, and when he pitched his tent near Shechem he compromised and lost out.

The incident pictures the tragic result of such folly in our day. Those who will not move over into the worldly life want to be close enough to it so that their children may have the cultural and educational advantages, and soon they find that they have lost their children to the world and have lost the savor of their own spiritual experience.

VETERANS SERVICE BUREAU

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Veterans Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.)

Income Tax Problems

The veteran returning home after his discharge will be wise if he consults a government income tax collector to get straight on his income tax with Uncle Sam.

Even though the veteran is confident he does not owe a tax, it would be well to get it straight from the internal revenue department. For most servicemen and women, the entire 1942 federal income tax was cancelled, but there were some exceptions. It is possible that if you paid federal taxes for the 1942-43 period, there may be a refund coming.

Unless the veteran is a commissioned officer or had a private income, he likely will owe no income tax for the time in service, since from 1943 there has been no tax on the first $1,500 of annual service pay or on the government's contribution to monthly family allowance. Neither is there a federal tax on mustering out pay, pensions or disability retirement pay, gratuities, war risk insurance proceeds nor on the veteran's educational or rehabilitation allowances.

Prior to 1943 the exemption on annual pay was granted only to enlisted men and was $250 for a single person and $300 for a married person. If you owed income tax at the time you went into service, you may be one of those who obtained permission to postpone payment. If that is true, then you have six months to pay-up after your discharge. You may make application to pay in equal installments over a period equal to your full period of service if you desire.

If there were any taxes on real or personal properties unpaid at the time you entered service, there likely will be penalties added and interest charges. If the local courts permitted seizure of your property for taxes while you were in service, you have until the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act, the right to redeem it up to six months after you are discharged.

Questions and Answers

Q. Is the wife of a serviceman required to include the amount of her allotment in figuring her income tax?

A. No. The amount is taxable income to the person making the allotment. In this instance, the husband.

Q. Where can information be obtained on the number of battle stars to which a soldier is entitled?

A. Ordinarily the immediate commanding officer is the only person who can determine the number of battle stars to which a soldier on active duty is entitled.

Q. Is the family of a soldier notified if he is being transferred from Europe to the Pacific area?

A. The war department informs us that if a soldier is being redeployed from Europe to the Pacific, his family will be notified by the department and the soldier will be given every opportunity to notify the family of his change of address.

Q. My son has started studying law in college under the G. I. bill of rights. He has decided he does not like law and wants to take Business Administration. Can he change his course?

A. Yes, he is perfectly at liberty to change courses. He is entitled to as much time as the law permits in college, regardless of what course he studies.

Q. How do I get extra gas to drive the family car when I'm on furlough and how much gas can I get?

A. Apply to your nearest ration board. Take with you the mileage record of the car to be used and your furlough papers. You will get a gallon a day up to 35 gallons.

Q. If a woman served for eight months in the WAC and was honorably discharged is she entitled to wear a lapel button and can she claim mustering out pay?

A. The war department says if a woman was honorably discharged from the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps she may wear the lapel button signifying such discharge. If she was discharged because of a service-connected disability she is entitled to mustering out pay and hospital benefits.

Q. Must a boy register with his local board on the day he becomes 18 or how soon thereafter?

A. Yes, he must register on his 18th birthday. In case his birthday falls on Sunday or a legal holiday, he must register the following day.

Q. What members of a navy man's family are eligible for medical care?

A. Dependents of a man in service in the navy who are eligible for medical care and hospitalization include his lawful wife, unmarried dependent children, adopted or step-children less than 21 years old or dependent mothers and fathers.

"What more can be done to help the meat situation?"

A Personal Message from
Clinton P. Anderson
Secretary of Agriculture

Mr. Anderson owns two farms and immediately prior to becoming Secretary of Agriculture he was chairman of the House of Representatives' Food Investigating Committee. His committee held hearings on meat, sugar, and other food problems all over the nation.

Farmers and ranchers have done their best to increase production of meat for war. With more help and assistance from the government, they can improve the meat situation.

Black Market activities have disrupted normal distribution of meat. The selfish few are getting more than their share... leaving less than a fair share for the rest of us. Honest people are unable to buy the meat to which they are entitled.

While many sincere efforts have been made by farmers, ranchers, and government to improve the meat situation, we are still faced with the question, "What More Can Be Done?"

To wipe out the Black Market, we must increase production and work together to get meat distribution back into legitimate trade channels.

To help increase production, the government will continue price supports; will keep its pledge to support prices as announced; will do all it can to help provide more labor and transportation.

The Department of Agriculture will join with other government agencies to fight the Black Market with all the forces at its command.

But the most important answers to the question, "What More Can Be Done?" will be given by you, the producers.

Here's What You Can Do to Help

1. Produce more livestock, increase marketings of beef cattle and sell only through legitimate channels.
2. Slaughter no more for home use or for sale in your community than you did last year.
3. Collect, and turn in, meat ration points for all meats you sell.
4. Don't sell livestock or meat over ceiling prices.
5. Destroy meat points for all the meat you use yourself.
